

GIBSON, MURDERER, IS REPRIEVED AT THE LAST HOUR

Petition of Sixty Thousand
Toronto People Secure Man
Commutation of Death Sentence.

HIS FRIENDS ARE NOW
HOPEFUL OF NEW TRIAL

Result Proves Possibility of Active and Combined Work of Large Number of People.

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—The prayers of 60,000 petitioners that the government would interfere at the eleventh hour to save Charles Gibson, of Toronto, from going to the gallows in Toronto on Thursday has been answered. Last night it was announced that the sentence had been commuted to life imprisonment. Later on, it is believed that a new trial will be secured and if the new evidence materializes Gibson may then become a free man.

His escape from the gallows comes after practically all hope had been given up following the definite refusal of the government last week to recommend executive clemency. This morning Gibson's counsel, Mr. H. J. Fox, with the Toronto delegation again appeared before the cabinet council and argued as strongly as possible the plea for a federal reconsideration of the application for the clemency. At this afternoon's sitting of the cabinet, the whole case was again come into thoroughly. It was finally decided that the decision of last week should be reversed and a recommendation was made to the administrator of the government, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, that the death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. This recommendation was accepted by Sir Charles this evening.

Mr. Fox stated tonight that efforts will now be directed towards securing a new trial and he is hopeful that with expected new evidence this will be granted in the near future.

The Toronto delegation here in Gibson's behalf left for home last night well pleased with the result of their efforts. No hope was held out last week by the government that petitioners or any deputations would be of avail in changing the government decision to let the law take its course. The result has proved the efficacy of the strenuous and successful efforts of the people in Gibson's behalf.

While official advice that the sentence of Charles Gibson had been commuted did not reach Fred Norvatt and other officials last night in the chambers, the governor of the fact concluded that he would be justified in communicating to the young prisoner the information. There was no outward demonstration of the young man when the news was conveyed to him, as he is very unemotional.

Immediately upon receiving the good tidings from Sir Herbert Jenner, M.P., who has fought so hard to save his son from the gallows, Mr. Gibson Jr., proceeded to the jail, and was permitted by Governor Chamberlain to read the news to his son.

NEW U.S. TARIFF PLEASES LUMBER INTERESTS IN EAST

Duty of From $1.25 to $2.25
Per Thousand Feet Removed by New Tariff.

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—Local lumbermen are particularly well pleased with the new United States tariff which went into effect on Monday, thereby removing a duty ranging from $1.25 to $2.25 per thousand on lumber going from Canada into the United States.

The general opinion held here is that the new tariff will not effect local prices for some time, and it may be a little premature yet to predict just exactly what the result will be to the trade.

"It will assist us very much in moving a good deal of lumber held here which was bought by United States buyers some time ago, but outside of that I don't think it will make a great deal of difference here," said P. C. Walker, general manager for Shepley and Stone, and one of the best informed men in the lumber trade. "Private will likely advance on certain lines of lumber being used in the States. I will say though, that lumbermen remain the change very favorably."

Mr. Walker then held up a basket of lumber, and said:

"They came in since the new tariff went into effect yesterday, and they are orders to ship purchasers made by American buyers some time ago. So you see we have already begun to benefit to some extent."

Gordon H. Ward, general manager of the W. C. Edwards Lumber Co., said he would rather wait before venturing any opinion of what effect the revised tariff would have here, "if the demand for lumber increases it will cause an increase in prices, because they are affected by supply and demand the same as other goods."

It is understood that the American consumer will probably benefit more, but how much, it is too early to say.

CONSERVATIVE OPPOSITION TO DEVELOPMENT OF THE NORTH.

At this particular time the expenditure of the locked up $7,400,000 of Waterways money would be most welcome to the business men of the city of Edmonton, to say nothing of the hundreds dependent upon manual labor who are already casting about to know where the winter's employment is to be found.

To all such it will be satisfying to realize that the government has determined to put the legislation through; that construction will be commenced this autumn and that forward-looking outfits, right-of-way gangs and tie camps will be strung along the grade this winter, dependent for their supplies upon Edmonton, and giving employment to thousands who otherwise might be unemployed.

In bringing about this happy outcome, however, the conservatives in the legislature have no part. Their purpose at the present time is to obstruct. In spite of the fact that the proposal for the construction of the road which they advance collides with the mandate of the privy council, they insist upon projecting this unworkable "solution" into the debates of the house in such a way that to reject it takes time, while to accept it would be to lock up the north with another lawsuit which would, in all probability, last out the decade.

The plain fact of the matter is that upon this railway business the opposition is not sincere. Were they actuated by the single purpose of opening the north they would accept without equivocation the only solution open under the present circumstances, the solution offered by the government. On the contrary, they are willing to sacrifice the interests of the north—in which, incidentally, there are no votes to speak of—if by so doing they may keep alive the Waterways question, which constitutes their political stock in trade.

In thus trifling with such an important question the opposition evidently does not realize to what extent they tempt the public's irascibility. Time was when opposition to the Waterways was good political "dope," and when to maul the contract was appropos to the trend of political temperment; but that was some time ago. The public has learned a lot since then, much of which knowledge has to do with the underlying motives which impelled Mr. Bennett and his confederates to raise such a hullabaloo whenever a proposal came forward which provided a solution of the problem through the construction of the road. The public now sees clearly that the conservative members of the legislature have never voted for any motion or any amendment which could in any way be construed to mean that a railroad should be built from Edmonton to Fort McMurray. So far as the opposition is concerned, their course has been consistently opposed to the opening of the north country, either directly and brazenly, as was Mr. Bennett in the past, or by dissembling and circumlocution, as is the conservative party in the house at the present time.

THE BEST ARGUMENT IN FAVOR OF PROVINCIAL CONTROL OF RESOURCES.

By the Wilson tariff cancellation of the duty on lumber, there is offered to Canadian lumbermen unhampered access to the market of ninety million people south of the line.

From the Canadian lumberman's point of view the provision for free entry for lumber into United States will be welcomed as furnishing an opportunity for a larger and better market; but from the Canadian national point of view the provision can work out beneficially only upon condition that Canada protects and conserves her forests.

Through an insane policy of wastefulness and destructiveness, United States has already wiped out her forest wealth. Canada has now the only reserves of timber upon the continent. Properly conserved, these reserves may be made to supply the needs of the continent for all time to come. But if the Dominion government and the governments of those provinces which control their timber fail to rise to the occasion, Canada will be denuded of timber more rapidly than was the United States.

European countries have realized the importance of farming their timber. In Germany, timber limits are plantations from which only ripe trees are taken and a fire in a national forest is righteously regarded as a national calamity. Canada has no such realization of the value of the trees, and Canadian forests are stripped clean by the lumberman or are allowed to burn without consideration of the loss which such destruction entails to the nation. In Alberta alone there has been more timber destroyed by fire than would have paid the national debt, yet the federal authorities, from the distant viewpoint of Ottawa, evince no realization of what this means in loss of wealth and industry to this province.

Were these timber resources in the hands of the government of Alberta, as they properly should be, there is not the slightest shadow of doubt that the provincial authorities would provide the regulations necessary to conserve the forest stretches of the north country and the foothills so that they would increase in productivity instead of being denuded of timber, guaranteeing thereby a permanent source of tremendous wealth for the province which would cost the province nothing but which would furnish the province with a live and increasingly valuable industry through the proper handling of these resources.

Herein lies one of the most potent arguments in favor of the provincial control of the resources.

CHANCE FOR EXPERIMENT IN CIVIC GOVERNMENT.

While the amendments sought by the council to the Edmonton city charter propose to place in the hands of the council the power to dismiss commissioners by majority vote of the aldermen, Calgary is asking amendments to place in the hands of the electors the power to dismiss by majority vote not only commissioners (an elective office in Calgary), but members of the council as well, through the medium of the recall.

Edmonton has been tinkering to long in an attempt to patch up an antiquated and inefficient civic government that it has apparently escaped the notice of successive councils that real progress in the manner and system of the selection of administrators and their retention in office has been made in other cities in the past decade. The Edmonton idea has been that some day the recall might somewhere would set the old machine synchronizing.

The Calgary idea, on the other hand, is that there has been a wrong principle involved in the construction of the civic machinery; that the power has been located in the wrong place. Calgary proposes to change all this by locating the power in the hands of the electors.

Should both Calgary and Edmonton be granted the amendments desired, these two great cities, standing side by side and facing almost the same conditions and problems, would very quickly furnish the demonstration as to where the power could be most safely located—in the hands of delegated

PORTENTOUS TIMES IN THE TRANSPORTATION BUSINESS.

Eighty thousand railwaymen in United States ask advances in wages which will total eighteen million dollars increase in the payrolls of the transportation systems of the country.

Stock-watering in United States railroading has brought the transportation business to a pass where the railways have long since ceased to be able to meet depreciation and at the same time pay dividends. Depreciation grows like compound interest and this snowball has been rolling down hill in United States railroading for years. Every dollar skimmed from maintenance means that many dollars will have to be put in by somebody, sometime, to make the depreciation good.

No less an authority than James J. Hill declares that to bring the railways of the country up to the standard required by the demands upon their services would already cost eighteen billion dollars.

Coupled with this demand upon the railways comes the demand for the increase in wages. Railroad managers claim that to grant the demands upon the present freight rates will be to create deficits, thereby rendering billions of dollars of stock valueless and precipitating a panic. The railways have asked, and been refused, the privilege to increase their rates. The alternative is a strike, in which the system of private ownership of railways may collapse. At any rate, these are portentous times, so far as the railway business is concerned.

BLAME FOR LEVEL CROSSINGS RESTS UPON THE CITY.

In the matter of the subways misconception can be avoided by recognizing that in the railway scheme of things the important consideration is whether level crossings are cheaper for the railways and how long the public will stand for them. Protection of human life, as the railways see it, is a matter to be looked after by the representatives of the public. What protection the public gets at the expense of the railways can be had by taking it away from the railways by whatever process is available.

In other words, before the railways can be brought into an arrangement to meet their share of the cost of the subways they may be expected to engineer every delay that the city's lack of intensity of purpose will permit.

Such being the case, progress toward the protection of human life at the level crossing must come through the city's action. The city's case has been lying dormant for months. Under the circumstances, to blame the railways is childish. The place where the blame properly rests is upon the shoulders of those whose business it has been to shove the city's case, and who have failed in this respect.

VARICOSE VEINS AND ITCHING PILES

Usually Arise From Same Cause—Relief and Cure Effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment.
 Nearly everybody knows of Dr. Chase's Ointment as the most effective treatment for piles or hemorrhoids that medical science has been able to compound. So much suffering and misery arises from this ailment, that one is not long in telling his friends when he has found an actual cure. This accounts for the enormous sales of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

This letter tells of relief from the suffering of varicose veins by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Many suffer from this trouble not knowing the comfort to be obtained by the use of this great soothing ointment.

Mrs. R. J. Evans, 187 Munro street, Toronto, writes: "We have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for years. I have been troubled with varicose veins, and find it the only thing that gives relief. For every purpose when a soothing, healing ointment is needed there is nothing so good as Dr. Chase's Ointment." 46 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

MUNICIPAL NEWS.

North Edmonton Wants Sewer—

The urgent need of immediate sewer facilities in North Edmonton was passed on the city commissioners this morning by a committee of citizens headed by Messrs. Orlerson, Stambough and Wilson. The city engineer and Dr. Whitlaw, the medical officer of health, were in attendance. The commissioners decided that something should be done either by way of extending the present system or installing a separate system until the times arrive when the present system may be extended. The engineer has been asked to bring in a report and plans of a system that will give at least temporary relief to the citizens in that district. At present, however, there are a number of septic tanks and these are in many instances proving to be dangerous to the health of the public. Dr. Whitlaw urged the necessity for something being done at once.

The work had been in progress for two days it was decided not to remove one of the names and house numbers. Those that have been replaced are now in their old familiar places. The names of the few of the old numbers along Victoria avenue, since the serving of the injunction the men employed on this work have all been laid off and nothing further will be done pending the decision of the court after having heard the objections argued by the city solicitor.

POLICE COURT

Joseph Mathews, a man of aged and venerable appearance, was brought in to court this morning on the charge of assault preferred by a husky young gent known as A. E. Pickstone.

Pickstone said he called at Mr. Mathews' home to collect some money due on a masonry contract and went down into the cellar of the house where Mr. Mathews was at the time he called. There was a difference of opinion as to the payment of the bill and it is alleged that Pickstone made a remark suggestive to Mr. Mathews with the result that Pickstone fell all over a pile of coal in order to avoid a stiff poke on the jaw.

Magistrate Liefferman commented on the despatch of the ages of the men, and the result of the law encounter which seemed unbelievable and then imposed a nominal fine of $1 and costs on Mr. Mathews with the admonition not to take the law into his own hands in the future.

CONNECTING TRACKS BEING COMPLETED

Will Make Changes in Car Routing Until New Winter Routing Goes Into Effect.

The permanent double track work from the high level to the low level bridge is being completed on Currie street today. When the concrete has sufficiently set, the new line of track existing on Nelson avenue will be routed along First, Jasper, Ninth, Saskatchewan and Currie to connect with the cars at the low level bridge. This service will continue until the whole routing has been arranged for the winter.

The further extension of the Nelson avenue line is receiving special attention that it may be completed as far west as 24th street to form a loop line around Jasper, First, Nelson and 24th streets. Steel has been laid on the north track as far as 16th street and to 14th street on the south track. The ties have been spotted as far west as 19th street.

The special three part vias to be laid at the intersections of Nunavut avenue and Norwood boulevard and Saskatchewan avenue and the Boulevard are now being placed on the ground. The work in connection with the laying of these specials will begin tomorrow. All the contractors working on street railway extensions are operating full tilt but before the weather conditions make it impossible to do this part of the work.

WAYS TO TAKE MORE OBSTRUCTION

approval of sub-divisions in which ground was not set aside for the purpose mentioned in the bill, because of inexperience. There were circumstances under which it was unnecessary and inadvisable to withhold consent. Under other conditions it was advisable and in all cases of this kind the ground had been set aside. The present law was working out admirably and there was no need of amendment.

Mr. Spencer spoke in defense of his bill, telling of the difficulty just of the bill had in procuring the necessary and parks through failure to reserve them when the sub-divisions in which they were needed were approved and placed on the market.

Mr. Tweedie likewise spoke a few kind words for the bill.

Mr. Headley delivered a brief dissertation on highway development. Being an excellent exponent of his own views, Mr. Headley unadvisedly upon the evils of congestion. Parks and playgrounds, he asserted, were the lungs of youth. Unless the children of Alberta were permitted to develop their lungs, they could never hope to discuss the Waterways question, or words to that effect. Any Uncle George was against the principle of the bill, he thought the bill should at least go to committee of the whole. The committee on the government side thought otherwise, however, and the premier's motion that the bill be read a second time was carried on a vote of 31 to 16.

The standing committee on standing orders reported the following bills, which were read a first time:

Bill No. 29—To incorporate the Assiniboia Trust Company.

Bill No. 30—To authorize Paul Karer to practise dentistry.

Bill No. 41—To incorporate the Commercial Club (Calgary).

Bill No. 42—To authorize E. B. Peterson to practise medicine.

Bill No. 43—To incorporate the International Club.

Bill No. 44—Respecting the Village of Wabamun.

Bill No. 45—To amend the Edmonton charter.

The following petition was presented by Mr. Boudreau: For an act respecting the town of St. Albert.

The Question Box.

The committee on miscellaneous and private bills reported the following bills, which were read a first time:

Bill No. 46—To incorporate the Venice Club.

Bill No. 47—To incorporate the Service Club.

Mr. Stewart asked the following questions, which were answered by Hon. Mr. Boyle:

Q1—Respecting school records. Are these books printed, bound and published (a) in the province of Alberta?

Ans.—Nowhere.

Q2—Where are the provincial detectives ever employed against John or Bert Reed getting evidence against them?

Ans.—Nowhere.

Q3—What was expended?

Ans.—In the regular way, by men on salaries.

Q4—Is it generally acknowledged that John and Bert Reed are brothers?

Ans.—Not known.

Bad Complexions Are Now Easily Discarded

(From the Beauty Seeker)
Every woman has it in her own hands to possess a beautiful and youthful complexion. No matter how faded, faded or coarse the cuticle, ordinary make-up will actually remove it, and Nature will substitute a skin as soft, clear and lovely as a child's. The action of the wax is not drastic, but gentle and sure. Minute particles of dead skin come off day by day, yet no evidence of the treatment is discernible, other than the gradual complexional improvement. One ounce of mercurox wax, procurable at any drugstore, suffices for most cases. It is put on in bedtime like cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water. It is a certain method of discarding freckles, liver spots, moth patches, blackheads and pimples. Wrinkles can be treated with benefit by bathing the face in a lotion prepared by dissolving 1 ounce powdered salicylic acid in 2 pint with hazel. Instantaneous results are secured.

Woman in Pain For Three Years

With an Aching Shoulder and Lame Back That Seemed Incurable.

Tells of Her Remarkable Cure.

"Very few people could so patiently suffer for three years as I did," writes Mrs. M. D. Durand, from her home in Augusta. "Sometimes I felt very discouraged, but knew that a remedy would some day turn up with the power to relieve my sufferings. Nervinism was the one thing that ever did me real good. It had the power to sink into my stiff, sore muscles, and it drew out the pain and gave me release from such distress as few people know. My condition was largely rheumatic, and on this account I do urge every person with Rheumatic tendencies to use Nervinism—rub it in frequently and bind a hot flannel cloth over the aching parts. This is very soothing and will surely cure."

It is just such cases as this that has made Nervinism famous in many lands. No iniment is so penetrating, so strong, so pain-killer, so powerful over Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica, and Rheumatism is simply a marvel. Thousands of actual, permanent cures prove this. In the home Nervinism is so useful because it can be taken internally with results for rheumatism, stomach pains, and diarrhoea. It stops vomiting, cures nausea and sick headache. It drives out the poison.

No home complete without Nervinism. Family size bottles, 50c; trial size, 25c. All stores and all druggists. Write for lists of The Cataract Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

PANTAGES COMEDIAN TO BOOST EDMONTON

Actor Believes in Reciprocity and Gives Return in Publicity.

When Alf Goulding, the comedian in the musical comedy tabloid at the Pantages all this week, leaves Edmonton he will carry away a considerable quantity of letters parting with him, and will scatter it broadcast in the cities on the American coast. Goulding does not intend to do this for any monetary consideration except the salary he gets out of the Pantages circuit. He is possessed of an idea that rarely comes to a person in the profession he is in. To use his own words "I never felt quite right taking money out of a city and not doing anything in return."

Goulding is at the head of his own act, "A Night in Mexico," a musical comedy tabloid that is headlining the bill at the Pantages. He has a company of 14 clever people. Eight of them are chorus girls, who are pretty and charming, while they sing with excellent voices. Goulding is a clever comedian and creates considerable fun for his audiences at every performance.

Bern Hood is another on the Pantages bill that is making good this week. So far the black face monologist has created almost as much merriment as Alf Goulding. Hood can sing a song that is funny, use features with a similar result and tell as many funny stories in five minutes as the next one.

Archer and Ingersoll have a delightful song and dance act. The girl is very clever in her dances and introduces something new in that line. She is a winsome miss and her charm adds greatly to the attractiveness of her performance.

Hall and Sharkey sing Scotch songs that win a hand for them. They also introduce delightful Scotch dances and finish with an Irish clog.

One of the biggest hits of the bill is the violin playing of Alexander Kuntzky. The Russian has proven himself to be very clever on the violin and at every performance he is recalled many times. That he is a wonderful musician there is no doubt, and for such acts as he is presenting the highest money is being paid. Mr. Pantages is a lover of music and that is one of the reasons why Kuntzky's music has been booked over the circuit.

PRICE OF SUCCESS: POPULAR AUTHOR TELLS ABOUT IT

"Country Boy" Which Comes to Inform this Week Was Great Hit.

Edgar Selwyn, the author of "The Country Boy," which comes to the Empire commencing Thursday, October 9th, tells of his experience as a result of having written a successful play.

"I have found," said Selwyn, "that because of the royalties I am receiving as the author of the play, I have hundreds of communications from people who are very much interested in having me rapidly along the road of financial success. I have read estate agents by the score, who are importing me to purchase land in the seashore, cottages in the mountains, and brown stone front residences on 'Rock' Avenue."

"Stock brokers by the score are writing me wonderful letters about the inside information they have from 'the game' connected with the Standard Oil company, regarding the money-making possibilities of certain stocks they want to sell, and which at present are rather inactive in Wall street. I am offered hundreds of opportunities of getting in on the ground floor in real estate development—patent explanations. My mails also include communications from people who are sure they are geniuses, if only they could be grub-staked. Mining stock promoters are also in constant attendance, both in person and through the medium of the telephone. In fact, money is being compelled to run the gauntlet of the thousand and one answers that are set for the hungry to separate him from his money, but I take the whole affair good-naturedly, as I can readily understand how this experience of mine is merely the price one must pay who meets with success."

Many a good sermon has been preached in silence.

Wrong attributed to the architect, but the actor managed to get out of town before the summons for his appearance as a witness could be served.

"Harry has a sense of humor possessed by few young men," said Mr. Kent in his dressing room at the Empire theatre last night. "When he was being taken away by the officers on the fateful night I asked him why he had killed White. He turned to me, shook my hand and with a dry smile playing round his lips said: 'My brother knows why I did it! That was the last time I saw Thaw, although I am intimately acquainted with him.'"

PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS PLAYING BRILLIANT

PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS PLAYING BRILLIANT BALL SHOW DECIDED SUPERIORITY OVER GIANTS AND WIN FIRST GAME BY SCORE OF 6 TO 4

Both Teams Secure Same Number of Hits, but Mack's Men Bunch Them, Driving Marquard and Crandall From the Mound—"Home Run" Baker, Hero of 1911 Series, Gets Another Home Run With Man On Base.

New York, Oct. 8.—Outblinding and outgunning the New York Giants in the opening game of the world's series, the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the National League representatives at the Polo grounds yesterday afternoon by a score of 6 runs to 4. So complete was the supremacy of the American league champions in the initial contest that the victory appeared to be but a continuation of the series of 1911, when the Athletics won the title of that year from the Giants by four games out of six. As if to heighten the illusion, there were no home runs in the plays that might have been reproduced, so closely did they resemble those of 24 months ago.

The game was witnessed by a gathering of spectators that taxed the capacity of the New York club stadium and swelled the numbers of those financially interested to the extent of more than 17,000. The exact number of fans who paid admission to the seats was 35,291, and the day's receipts amounted to $75,255. These figures, as furnished by the National Commission, occasioned surprise, for the attendance fell short by more than 2,000 of that of the first game of 1911, although so far as could be seen there appeared to be just as many persons present as was the case two years ago. Certainly the scenes, both inside and outside the baseball arena, equaled those of any preceding world's series, so far as the gathering was concerned. Including those who witnessed the game in official capacity, the attendance crossed the 40,000 mark, and fully half the number failed to gain access to the park. So great were the throngs that surrounded the Polo grounds that it was necessary to call out the police reserves and discontinue the elevated railway service to the ground gates in order that the crowds should not be augmented and get beyond the control of the police.

Much as the local contingent of fondness was cherished at the defeat of the Giants, there were none who could gainsay the right of the Athletics to the fruits of victory in the opening clash of the 1912 championship series. The Mack men went about their task in a businesslike manner and before two hours had passed, demonstrated that for the day at least they were the better team. They outplayed the Giants, driving both Marquard and Crandall from the mound with fouls of long hits, which quickly accounted for runs. In fighting, too, the standard batters of the American league outshone the representatives of the older association. Each team gathered 11 hits from the rival pitchers, but the Athletics' drive was more timely and of greater length. The Giants gathered 12 bases from their 11 hits, while the Athletics' total was 20. The breaks that occurred in the fielding tested the mettle of the Philadelphia club to a greater extent than the New York players, for with few exceptions the Athletics' chances were better than those that were offered the Giants infield and outfield.

It was centre fielder Shaffer's misjudging of Schanz's drive that really paved the way for the Athletics' victory. It was one of few hard chances offered Giant fielders during the game, and when Shaffer failed to gauge the flight of the ball the Athletics seized the opening. The team took the lead, never to be headed. The Giants started a rally in the fifth inning which netted three runs, but the of the grandstand were filled and the vast stretches of the bleachers bore testimony to the popularity of baseball. As the noon hour struck, the last of the 42 seats was sold and before another 40 minutes had passed standing room alone remained.

An hour or so before the game began, the little gate in the centre field fence opened and the Giants and Athletics trooped forth to the accompaniment of a chorus of cheering that echoed back from Coogan's Bluff and could be heard for blocks away. There was little ceremony in the entrance of the actors of the day and soon the Athletics were in the midst of the batting practice.

Photographers scurried about the field like flocks of black birds, "snapping" plays singly and in groups. In the afternoon the heaviest of the 12 served coupons filled in gradually and filled the entire horizon of 8,000 seats while flags and pennants flapped in the breeze and a leaden grey sky enclosed the park and its waiting thousands.

In marked contrast to the scene of previous years the great gathering was noticeably unadorned. There was no pouring of rain, no blowing of snow, no snow storms as are usually made by throwing newspapers in the crowd below. The Athletics appeared to have almost as many supporters present as the Giants, and their appearance and eye succeeded brilliant play elicited "as much applause as did those for the home team. The same conditions prevailed all through the game. The cowbells and rattles, which were used in 1911, were absent and the taunts of rabid fans were few and far between. The game was a matter of fact, and the players in a sane manner, and without a lower alike repaid the just reward of their efforts.

Story, Play By Play.

Eddie Murphy, playing in his first world's series, faced Marquard when "Smoky" called to the mound. The left-handed pitcher following Mathewson's usual system of grooving the first ball, let go a pitch that Murphy caught on the end of his bat and sent it off to Murray for an easy catch. Olinning started the Athletics' rosters shouting when he slashed a single to right field. Marquard, knowing that Olinning would try to steal second, kept him close to the bag, and finally by a lightning throw, caught the Philadelphia player. Merkle making the out. Olinning protested against Umpire Egan's decision, but it prevailed him. The next left pitcher, Collins, shot a clean base hit to centre, but he was left at first when he tried to advance to second. When New York came to bat there was much cheering, but the shouts of the Giants' supporters did not last long. Shaffer, the first to face the Philadelphia infield, sent up a fly to Murphy in right field and Doyle fired off to Strunk. Fletcher sent a ground-out just short. On the first ball pitched Fletcher tried to steal, but Schanz's beautiful throw to Collins beat him, and the side was out.

The American league champions went out in order in the second inning. Merkle, some of whom were cheering from tiers of wooden seats to news of bobbing humanity. The spectators swarmed into the various stands in the jaws of the great clock over the bleachers, and the crowd roared when the umpires should call that magic signal "play ball."

Long before noon the centre sections of the grandstand were filled and the vast stretches of the bleachers bore testimony to the popularity of baseball. As the noon hour struck, the last of the 42 seats was sold and before another 40 minutes had passed standing room alone remained.

An hour or so before the game began, the little gate in the centre field fence opened and the Giants and Athletics trooped forth to the accompaniment of a chorus of cheering that echoed back from Coogan's Bluff and could be heard for blocks away. There was little ceremony in the entrance of the actors of the day and soon the Athletics were in the midst of the batting practice.

Photographers scurried about the field like flocks of black birds, "snapping" plays singly and in groups. In the afternoon the heaviest of the 12 served coupons filled in gradually and filled the entire horizon of 8,000 seats while flags and pennants flapped in the breeze and a leaden grey sky enclosed the park and its waiting thousands.
